

Child & Adolescent Psychiatry Services

Children and adolescents can experience emotional, behavioral, and mental health challenges that affect their relationships, school, family life, and overall well-being. At CSG, our Child and Adolescent Psychiatry service provides specialized evaluation, diagnosis and treatment for young people experiencing a range of behavioral health concerns.

Our team works with children, adolescents, and their families to better understand their needs, develop individualized treatment approaches, and connect them with the support and resources they need to move forward.

Outpatient psychiatry services may be appropriate for children and adolescents experiencing concerns such as:

- Anxiety, depression, or significant mood changes
- Behavioral or emotional concerns
- Attention and concentration difficulties
- Trauma-related symptoms
- Changes in functioning at home, school, or in relationships
- Difficulty managing emotions or behavior
- Other mental health concerns that may benefit from psychiatric evaluation or treatment

Child Psychiatry Services may include:

- Psychiatric Evaluation & Assessment
- Diagnosis & Treatment Planning
- Medication Management
- Ongoing Psychiatric Care
- Family & Caregiver Support
- Ongoing Care Coordination
